
New England Conservatory

Degree Programs Doctor of Musical Arts (D.M.A.) in Performance: World Music Faculty

Robert Labaree

Jerry Leake

Hankus Netsky

Peter Row

Warren Senders Website <http://www.newenglandconservatory.edu/worldmusic/Contact>

Forthcoming Program Description

A number of departments at New England Conservatory offer courses which provide the opportunity to study cultures outside of the European and North American traditions. These courses may be taken either to satisfy particular departmental requirements for graduation or as electives.

In addition, the experience of world musical cultures is greatly enhanced by the presence of the NEC Intercultural Institute. See below for more information. Additional Resources

The NEC Intercultural Institute offers monthly workshops, performances and residencies throughout the academic year. These offerings are conducted by guest artists in a wide variety of musical traditions and are open to the general public and NEC community, free of charge. Special, intensive residencies in diverse musical traditions are available through the NEC Summer Intercultural Institute. Workshops and course listings are available online.

A calendar of Intercultural Institute concerts during the 2008-2009 school year is available. Consortia and Cross-Registration

Undergraduate students at NEC may enroll in a combined degrees program between Tufts and New England Conservatory, or in a combined degrees program between Harvard and NEC.