

Northeastern University

Degree Programs Bachelor of Arts in Music; Minor in Ethnomusicology Faculty Susan Asai
Leonard Brown
Emmet G. Price III
Website <http://www.music.neu.edu/Contact> Forthcoming Program Description

Northeastern's music department offers a concentration in music history and analysis. The diverse curriculum includes courses in Western classical music, American music, World music, music theory, and ear-training. In addition, there is the possibility of choosing a minor in Ethnomusicology, which combines four introductory courses with three electives in specific regional musics of the student's choice. Additional Resources

Course offerings in American and World music. Consortia and Cross-Registration

No information is available at this time.